London-based art fair Art16 opens its fourth edition this Friday with booths from over 100 galleries hailing from 30 countries. Indeed, the artworks on view represent a wide array of mediums and styles, with an especially robust group of young, international artists—from Taiwan, Iran, Denmark, and more—emerging as standouts. Below, we’ve sifted through the fair’s vast selection to bring you our top picks.

Hu Chau-Tsung, Home - Private Paradise, 2015

Liang Gallery, Booth D6

Hu’s enigmatic paintings, where glimpses of foliage appear like mirages through apartment windows or in roadside mirrors, convey our nostalgia for nature. Many of the Taiwanese artist’s compositions, like Home - Private Paradise (2015), imagine a surreal world in which clean skies and lush forests coexist directly alongside hard-edged cement homes and highways—it’s a landscape that we acknowledge is impossible but continue to wish for.
